Profile

My great professional and scientific interest is in the area of the classic Persian literature and I can say that since my childhood, I am Turkish by origin, till now I have achieved very deep knowledge in it. As well as I have profound understanding of the historical, cultural and ideological context in which this vast literature has developed. I have studied hard and I have been prominent student in three prestigious Iranian universities. I have a solid teaching experience as university professor in Iran and Bulgaria, my husband is Bulgarian. And I have special research interest in hermeneutic and comparative literature studies. That is why I hope, if I am accepted to work in so prominent institution like Harvard University, I might be very useful for the development of Iranian studies in it.
